Developmental Responsiveness

- Many avenues at our school promote not only academic excellence but also focuses on a vast array of services to address the unique needs of our students population.
- We maintain a relationship with students, parents, and community members through many community outreach projects.
- Social media, newsletters, and teacher webpages are used as some of the main communication avenues within our school community.
- At Landrum Middle School, we recognize the importance of social needs. Student voices are important to the overall well-being and growth of our school.

Social Equity

- At Landrum Middle School, we celebrate differences and embrace individuality. In this regard, diversities are honored and brought to the attention of our school through examples such as, Hispanic Heritage Month and the MLK Writing Contest.
- Teachers are equipped with collaborative sessions, common planning, and data-driven instruction to provide rigorous, elevated curriculum to meet the needs of students.
- Technology integration is also at the forefront of our minds, as we believe technology is key to instructional personalization.

Organizational Support

- Spartanburg District One holds a tried and true mission of providing a “student-centered education.” Here at Landrum Middle, living out the mission is a reflection of the district’s purpose. We are a school for the heart and mind, and we live that in all that we strive for and accomplish.
- We believe that all students can learn when provided the opportunity to do so. All students are on different levels of the academic spectrum, and we feel that they all have the ability to learn at their own pace, and even sometimes their own, tailored level when necessary.
- Through our new partnership with Digital Promise and Google, we are allowed the opportunity to be one of only 50 schools in the nation to work at top notch ability to further integration meaningful, effective technology.
- At Landrum Middle School, we strive to provide and promote a welcoming environment. We work as a cohesive unit to value and uphold all we deem true.
